VOLUME II.—NUMBER 12.

RUMFORD FALLS, MAINE, OCTOBER 3, 1907.

PRICE THREE CENTS.

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, PRESIDENT OF THE P. S. AND P. M. W. UNION.

Meets J. T. Carey, President of the P. M. and M. T. Union in Debate at McMennamin Hall, Monday Night.

A Largely Attended Meeting.

The Pulp Saltpetre and Paper Mill workers local union held a meeting in McMennamin Hall Monday night. It was first addressed by Martin M. Roseingrave secretary of the local union of Fort Edwards N. Y.

The President of the recently organized local union Milton Young was chairman of the meeting and in introducing the speaker explained that the object of the meeting was to place the true conditions of the affairs between the paper makers and the pulp makers and the mill workers before the people.

Mr. Roseingrave is a man of good speech making ability and was listened to with close attention.

He said in part: "We went to the paper makers time and again and asked to be admitted to membership, but they said no, you are unskilled workers and not eligible to our organization. It was then that one young man in Fort Edwards asked, what shall we do? He said we should have an organization as well as the paper makers. The organization was formed and within three months we demanded better conditions from the manufacturers. We were denied. Again we asked for less wages and more pay, a second time we were denied. We got the pay raised from 12 1/2 c. per hour to 10 1/2 c.

When the paper makers saw these things they asked the American Federation of Labor to make the two organizations one. This was done. While we were with them our condition did not improve. It was not long before the paper makers began to denounce us as unskilled labor and say we were a load to them. We held a convention in Burlington, Vt., and 3400 pulp makers and mill workers seceded from the amalgamation. There were but 300 remained in the old organization.

This was done in January of 1906. In May of the same year we had obtained a raise in pay from 10 1/2 c. to 20 c. per hour. We have 37 locals and 23 of them are on the 8 hour system. There are soon to join the 8 hour system. That's a pretty good showing for a 14 months old organization. We are not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. We do not need to be."

The speaker here raised a laugh by declaring that "the first strike on record was won before the A. F. of L. was even heard of. The first strike we know of was by the Israelites 600 years B. C. and they won out."

He complimented the A. F. of L. and acknowledged that it had done good service. But maintained that membership in it was not essential. He cited the instances of all the unions called the men at that place and they lost the strike. He was interrupted by Roseingrave who vehemently declared that the strike was not lost.

Carey answered a question by saying: "The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. have not refused to recognize our organization." John F. Fitzgerald, president of the P. S. and P. M. W. next addressed the meeting. He was received with great applause. He is a young man with a strong characterized face and a manner that showed confidence both in himself and cause. He was also a good speaker. He said in part.

John J. Fitzgerald's Speech.

"I do not have to carry Mr. Roseingrave along to tell people who I am, he is not here for that purpose. The pulp makers were the first to demand the 8 and 9 hour day. We did it in June a long while before the letter that Carey has read was written. He then gave a list of names that any one could write to for proof of the same."

"I had a two days conference with the International Paper Co. and they promised the 8 and 9 hour day. In July I had another conference and they granted the request. I do not deny that the paper makers helped, but I do deny that the pulp makers made the first audience was surprised to see Mr. J. C. Carey, president of the paper makers organization step forward and ask to be heard. He was received with applause and invited to the platform.

Mr. Carey is also a good speaker and at times rises to oratorical heights, but for the most part his delivery is in an easy or conversational style. He said in part.

"Our organization is not rich enough to pay a man to go ahead to tell who and what Carey is and that is why I come unannounced. I heard my name mentioned by the speaker who has just finished, and if this an open meeting I want the chance to correct some of his statements."

He claims the credit for all the improved conditions that have come to the pulp workers for his seceding organization and most of that was accomplished when the organization was only 3 months old. He tells you of a strike that was won 600 years before Christ. I do not know anything about that, but I do know that the paper makers organized 88 years ago in Holeyoke, and while the organization was not a success it was the beginning and the tendency has always been upward.

In those days workers of whatever kind worked at whatever and whenever the employer said. Through the means of the paper makers the discontinuance of some parts of Sunday work was effected and that was before Fitzgerald knew the meaning of trade unionism."

Mr. Carey then entered upon a discussion of the merits of the claim that the pulp makers were responsible for the 8 hour day and the increase in pay. He read a letter sent by himself (in his official capacity) to W. A. Whitcomb of the International Paper Co. in July 1906 asking for a conference with the officials of the proposition granting the three lower system, and an increase in wages. The letter was answered the next day and a conference was arranged. The result was the granting of the three lower system on a nine hour day.

He then took up the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company matter by saying: "I did not say to the company 'I'll close down your damn mill if you do not recognize me as a representative of organized labor for I believe in treating all men in a gentlemanly manner and moreover I do not intend to call out men anywhere unless I see a fair prospect of success.'"

He then went into details regarding affairs in Mechanicsville, N. Y., claiming that the pulp makers took in members that the paper makers had suspended for nonpayment of dues. He then told how Fitzgerald and Healy had called the men at that place out and they lost the strike. He was interrupted by Roseingrave who vehemently declared that the strike was not lost.

Carey answered a question by saying: "The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. have not refused to recognize our organization."

John F. Fitzgerald, president of the P. S. and P. M. W. next addressed the meeting. He was received with great applause. He is a young man with a strong characterized face and a manner that showed confidence both in himself and cause. He was also a good speaker. He said in part.

COOK GIVEN A JAIL SENTENCE FOR ASSAULT.

Hit Alex Gillis of 57 Canal Street, Friday Night. Then Resisted Arrest. Put Up a Vigorous Fight with Policeman Roach and Special Officer Gendrow.

Last Friday night, Police Officer Henry Roach served a warrant on Warren Cook charging assault earlier in the day.

Cook was just coming out of a cafe when the officer saw him, and informed him what business he had to do. Cook demanded the reading of the warrant. This was done whereupon Cook said he would go. Before they had taken many steps along Exchange street Cook made an effort to escape, and the officer had to grapple with him. After finding the effort to be a failure, Cook said he would go along without trouble. The officer retained his hold upon him, and Special Policeman Gendrow walked along beside him. It was fortunate that he kept his hold off him for as they turned the corner into Canal street Cook made a feint and tried to knock the officer off his feet. Roach was too well acquainted with his man to be taken unawares, and after a short fight he again had Cook in a willing mood. Cook seemed to dislike Gendrow and asked him to keep him away. When they reached the door to the under ground police station Cook again balked and swore that he would not go down there alive. The officer said that he would go dead or alive as the case might prove after they had reached the bottom of the stairs.

Cook made a big fight and as Officer Roach opened the door braced his feet against the sides, and settled back like a horse in the breeching. The officer getting a firm hold of his man by the collar started to go in. Cook's hold gave away, and both men landed at the bottom of the stairs in a heap, but Roach maintained his hold, and getting onto his feet started with his prisoner for the cooler, and by main force finally landed the fellow in a cell.

Saturday morning Cook was arraigned before Judge Stearns, and pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault made by Alex Gillis. Gillis told his story as follows:

"Friday night, after supper, I was on the piazza at 57 Canal street, and Cook came along and went to a door and rapped. I told him that no one was at home. He then began using vile language and approaching me struck me in the face."

Andrew Winn corroborated Gillis story. Cook who conducted his own defense, asked Gillis if he (Gillis) did not draw a knife on him. Gillis admitted drawing a knife when he thought Cook was about to renew the attack. Winn corroborated this statement. Cook explained to the court that Gillis was a little jealous of him, and that was the basis of the trouble. Cook also said he was drunk, and did not know just what he did do.

The officer did not make any complaint on account of the fight that Cook put up.

Judge Stearns sentenced Cook to 30 days in jail. In doing so he explained that Cook had been before the court once before within a short time, and had given the officers more or less trouble, and the demands of justice required that he be given a jail sentence.

Officer Roach took Cook to Paris, Saturday afternoon.

demands that led to the results. I will give the paper makers credit for getting the Saturday night off concession, but the pulp men helped at the last in that."

Mr. Fitzgerald then went into details concerning the strike at Mechanicsville and explained why it was not a success. He referred to Mr. Carey's remarks by saying that he at all times tried to act in a gentlemanly manner, and closed his remarks by declaring that the men at Mechanicsville, would never go back unless their requests were granted.

Following these speeches each man had more or less to say in short speeches before the meeting adjourned for a private conference at the pulp makers.

A THREE PER CENT TRIO TRY TO DO UP POLICE.

Had Boasted they would not be Arrested by the Police but were Mistaken.

Saturday night about 11 o'clock word was sent to the police station that three men who were known to have the idea that they could not be restrained by the officers from doing as they pleased, were in a mood to create a disturbance. Officer Merrill who was on duty saw the need of assistance and he summoned Policemen Brooks and Violette and Deputy Sheriff Poor. The four officers then proceeded to look for the gang. They were first seen in the Aerie Cafe where they had just finished lunch and were making more or less talk that was not called for and the man in charge was relieved when they took their departure. The officers watched them as they went along the street. They came to a stop and began the wrangling among themselves. Officer Merrill stepped along and told them they must not make so much noise. Dan McMullen, who seemed to be the leader of the trio, intimated to the officer that he could get all the trouble he was looking for. Merrill told him that he was there to prevent trouble.

The other officers seeing that there was going to be trouble at once came forward and in an instant there was the biggest fight that has ever occurred on the streets of Rumford in progress. The two companions of McMullen were his brother Albert and Ed. Ross. They are all able men. Dan is said to be the strongest man in town. They were not drunk, except within Judge Dewey's definition, for they had only imbibed enough to make them feel the fuddle that is the goal that every drinker desires and then thinks he will quit. Dan tackled Officer Violette and they had a fight that will go on record as the hottest combat that the officer has been up against since he has been on the force. The other two engaged Brooks and Merrill and they meant to put the officers out of commission for they fought with all the desperation of men who thought their reputations were at stake. Violette was holding his man well in check and had just told Poor not to interfere when something went wrong and both men fell to the ground. In the meantime Merrill and Brooks were having a lively time with their men and after a hard fight in which the clubs were used some, the men were subdued and taken to the station. Deputy Poor rendered such aid as he was able to, but from the nature of the fight he could not do much except when it became necessary to assist when there was a opening.

This occurrence shows that one officer on night duty is not safe for the officer or the community. There should be no time lost in changing the arrangement. They were arraigned in court Monday and fined. Each paid and was discharged.

Mr. Bessey will, as may be seen from this advertisement, maintain an office in Hall's Block and also will visit the merchants throughout the State.

Such is the case and Mr. Bessey will have the sale of all the goods the company makes. These include paper bags, wrapping paper, tissue, clothing boxes, tissue paper of all kinds, sheathing, tarred, and carpeting paper, and other similar goods.

Mr. Bessey is one of the best fitted men in the State for the successful handling of this business, for he knows the line of goods made by the company in every factory and also is familiar with the places throughout the country where the goods are shipped. He is a native of this country, having been born in Buckfield where he lived until becoming connected with the Continental Paper Bag Co. eight years ago.

He graduated from Hebron Academy and immediately entered the employ of the company and has ever since been a trusted member of the shipping office force, and has not only performed his work in a manner to win the entire confidence of his superior officers but has so thoroughly mastered the business that his loss to the department will be severely felt.

Inspector Robinson Told the Board of Trade the Requirements of the P. O. Department for Continuing a Free Delivery System.

Well Lighted Streets is one of the Conditions.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was called Monday night to hear a statement from Post Office Inspector W. B. Robinson regarding the free delivery system.

Mr. Robinson addressed the meeting briefly and answered questions. He said in substance:

"There are three things the Post Office Department positively require from every city or town before a free delivery system will be established. The first is that the receipts of the office shall be $10,000 yearly. The second is that there be good sidewalks in all parts of the delivery territory. The third is that the streets be well lighted. If after a free delivery system has been established any of these requirements are found to be lacking the department may discontinue the service altogether. The department does not believe in maintaining a partial service. That is they would not sanction the plan of having a part of the route covered and a part left for the next trip. It is manifestly impossible for a carrier to deliver mail upon unlighted or half-lighted streets. He might deliver an important letter to the wrong place and then the department would be responsible. The work would be slow and unsatisfactory under the conditions that prevail in your streets in the residential section. I think it would be well for the city to take some action in the matter and have the streets properly lighted. If that were done the night delivery could be continued throughout the year."

The postmaster must conform to the rules and regulations and he cannot do any more than recommend that certain things be done. The three requirements I first mentioned are established rules and are not subject to modification to meet any special cases.

The Happenings of the Week
as gathered by the Citizen Reporter.

The discourse given by Rev. Frank Pearson at the F. B. church last Sunday, was very interesting and inspiring. His scripture lesson was from the 12th chapter of St. John, while the basis of his message was from the 11th and 12th verse of Isaiah 21st chapter. "Watchman, what of the night? The watchman said the morning cometh." Mr. Pearson spoke of the home life, affairs of the State and Nation, and while there were clouds in all lives, those who remained on the mountain tops of faith in God who rules the universe, would catch the first penell of the sun's rays. He compared the rising sun to the abiding faith in God's sovereignty. A very beautiful comparison, and a very hopeful and helpful discourse.

Mr. Harvey Kenney, an aged and respected citizen, died at his home in Mexico, Sunday, Sept. 29. He has been a native of Dixfield for many years, living on a farm in the west part of the town until about a year ago. His failing health obliged him to sell his farm. He bought a stand in Mexico, near his daughter, Mrs. H. H. Bab, and there resided at the time of his death.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson of Malden, Mass., were visiting relatives and friends in town last week.

Mrs. S. S. Stowell is now with her daughter Mrs. Mary Dexter at Weld. Hon. H. O. Stanley and Hon. J. S. Harlow are spending a few days at the Stanley cottage at Lake Webb.

An eastern cyclone passed through this place and Peru, Tuesday of last week, doing considerable damage in Peru. At the home of Mrs. Hannah Bishop, buildings were shaken, unroofed and sheds blown down; two large shade trees were blown down in front of the house, one striking the corner of the house breaking the corner of the roof and smashing glass in the bay window, a dozen apple trees were uprooted and several other trees broken and blown down. Quite a terrific thunder shower accompanied by wind and hail, made it appear more frightful for the short time it lasted.

A new guest arrived at the home of Norman Marsh Wednesday Sept. 25th. A baby girl.

Rev. G. M. Park of Presque Isle and brother, Henry of Mexico, were in town last week and called on several old-time friends. The ball game between Bethel and Andover, played at the Fair Grounds last Saturday, developed a chapter of accidents which might easily have been even more serious than they were. In the second inning Bethel's catcher, Gard Twaddle, made a bad slide to second base throwing out both of the bones in his forearm. It was thought that his arm was broken and Herbert Thomas started with him in his auto for the doctor's. Just as they left the grounds they met a carriage containing Willis Dorey and Walter Barnes. The horse did not like the looks of the machine and started for home, leaving Willis and the postmaster mixed up with a broken buggy. Fortunately, neither was hurt at all severely. The horse ran as far as Poor's barn and stopped. After the doctor had put Twaddle's arm back in place, he was taken to his home in Bethel by auto. He cannot play again this season. The game continued in a cold drizzle and those who were brave enough to stay until the end, saw Bethel defeated by a score of 5 to 3.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent. of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by Bowers Valley Co.

THURSDAY OCTOBER 3, 1907.

The Lisbon Enterprise caught on to the significance of our recent editorial in which we called attention to the fact that the leading men of San Francisco were too timid to make war upon the grafters; and left it all for one man to do. The Enterprise in comment says: And unless that 'one man' comes to the front in Maine, grafting is likely to still go on indefinitely.

There is not a man possessed of imagination fertile enough to conceive up any possible thing that can be done that will return to the Power Company the cost of the fence they have just surrounded their lot opposite the Strathglass building with. Probably every man in the corporation has guessed some reason for its being built. The only thing we know is that the fence is well built, and could not be any more carefully finished if it were intended to remain for twenty years.

The Portland Press, taking note of an advertisement in the CITIZEN says: "Rumford Falls has started a Fairbanks campaign. A dealer there is advertising butter-milk on draught." We might add that since the advertisement appeared in the CITIZEN the advertiser's sale of that healthful beverage has increased threefold. We hope this is an indication of the degree of favor with which Mr. Fairbanks candidacy is looked upon here. It at least, shows the value of advertising in the CITIZEN.

The increase of living expenses at Rumford Falls is causing considerable uneasiness on the part of the wage earners. It seems that prices of many of the necessities have advanced, and in the food line to such an extent that the hotels, restaurants and boarding houses have materially advanced the rates of board. What real cause there is for the high prices of these necessities we fail to see. The causes must be artificial. We believe the conditions will not be improved until the fraudulent system of speculation throughout the whole country is abolished. Similar conditions prevail all over the country.

Some of the local firemen and engineers are interested in the interpretation of the statute covering the licensing of engineers and firemen. It seems that the wording of the law makes it necessary that the man prove that he is qualified to operate the special plant for which he hopes to go to work in. The fact that he has operated similar plants and is known to be an expert may count for nothing in procuring a new job—if there are men on the examining board opposed to the man or there are others as dense as the framers of the statute. The more we see of the operation of the law the less we think of the men who made them.

"Socialism does not evidently meet the approval of Lewistonians. As Mr. Wilkins, a socialist organizer was addressing a small audience in the City Park, Saturday evening, a young man shouted:—"You're a liar." The speaker continued only to be interrupted by the young man who again called him a liar. Not until Mr. Wilkins had threatened to evoke the law, did the fellow cease—Rumford Falls Times.

From this it would appear that Lewiston sentiment is represented by one young man calling another man a liar. We know of instances where one man has represented the opinion of the place in which he lived. We are loath however to think Lewiston's public opinion is represented by one man whose argument is "You're a liar."

The Brooklyn Eagle, in an editorial article explaining the modifying influence of the mingling of the different races in America, and especially in New York, is having upon the feelings of each towards the other, takes occasion to say that New England has also exercised great influence upon the character of Brooklyn institutions. In the enumeration of things that are features of Brooklyn life that came from New England, it says that "baked beans are as well cooked and liked here as in Boston." Brooklyn learns slowly but thoroughly.

The great international balloon race is to occur October 21. The starting point will be St. Louis. This race is not attracting the attention that it ought. Last year the first prize in the races was won by a balloon named "United States," and was operated by a young army officer named Lahm. The race began at Paris, France, and for the winner ended far in the interior of England. Lahm covered nearly 400 miles. In McClure's magazine for October there is a very good account of that race. One of the notable features of the event was that no betting was done. The reason was that men were without means to form judgment as to the probabilities. It is safe to say that not many Yankee boys were there. They are the kind that bet to back up their country and opinions, rather than their judgment. At least that used to be the guiding sentiment, perhaps customs have changed with the modern "money basis" idea for everything.

The need for a new bridge in the place of the foot bridge now closed for repairs is forcing itself upon the public mind with renewed force. The feasibility of the 10, 20 and 30 year bond plan, of raising funds to carry on public utility work is not susceptible of successful refutation. The bridge, if built now would in part be paid for by the generation of men upon the stage of active life at the time of the maturity of the bonds. The argument against any necessary public work on the grounds that the expense is too great is not sound. The cost of anything that is necessary, or that increases the chances for public health, safety and general happiness of all the people, should not be an element in the consideration of the project. No war was ever postponed on account of the expense. Few, if any wars, were ever necessary. The safety of the people is of more importance than wars. Let us then spend money for that as freely as for the destruction of people.

JUST AROUND THE BEND.

We have expressed ourselves as being in favor of automobiles and are not disposed to criticize the operators of them, and have refrained from doing so when there was great provocation.

We feel that some recent occurrences make it obligatory upon this newspaper to say that some of the drivers of machines about this village are careless, to say the least, and the teamsters are not to blame for thinking them indifferent.

One place where drivers are seemingly reckless is at the corner by the post office. Many times we have seen machines round that corner wholly unmindful of the existence of any other vehicles.

An occurrence Monday at the junction of Rumford avenue and Franklin street calls to mind that hat is a place where autos should go very slowly. A machine came down Knox street, and crossed Franklin, and rounded the bend

MAKE ACCORDING TO DIRECTIONS.

Shaking Well in Bottle,

Hundreds of People in Vicinity Here Will Welcome This Advice.

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a New York City paper, giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder derangement, in the following simple prescription, if taken before the onset of Bright's disease.

Fluid Extract of Mandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Sarsaparilla, one ounce; Compound Syrup of Sassafras, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well known druggist here at home, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic afflictions with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to filter and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

"Uncited by Lewiston Woman," Says Mr. Turner.

Last Saturday night when Bert Gordon arrived at his home on the River road in Ridgionville he found it deserted. A letter was there from his wife Florence stating that she was gone not to return. The couple had no children of their own, but have an adopted daughter. Mr. Gordon works in the Oxford Mill and is a steady man, and has maintained a good home.

Mr. Craig E. Turner who lives neighbor to Mr. Gordon and is a widower, returned to his home shortly after six o'clock to find his sixteen-year-old daughter Bessie gone, and a note from her saying that she should never return. The letter stated that she would write sometime. The girl is the one that has figured in the Rousseau drowning case. She has been housekeeper for her father and cared for two small brothers, three and four years old. She is a bright appearing girl, and her father says a capable housekeeper. Mr. Turner is employed by contractor J. H. Kerr and this summer has been away for several weeks on out of town jobs, and has not been able to keep as close watch upon her as a girl of her years requires, and he allows that she has given him considerable worry and, once when coming to the house at an unexpected hour and finding a young fellow there whom he had forbidden to come to the house, ordered him to leave. The young man is well known about the place and neighbors are agreed that Mr. Turner was right in his action in the matter.

When the CITIZEN man called Mr. Turner was preparing dinner for the little boys. They told their father that Bessie put them to bed and came and kissed them and told them they would never see her any more.

high rate of speed. A town team onto Rumford avenue at quite a was on the street, and the machine was only brought to a standstill just in time to save hitting the horse. As it was one horse fell down, and when he got onto his feet, the pair started on a run, and if the driver had not been master of his trade they would have wrecked the team.

In all friendliness we urge owners and operators of automobiles to bear in mind and act accordingly, that there are others in the world besides themselves, and they are likely to be just around the bend in the road as elsewhere.

We do not desire to chronicle any more auto accidents.

THE HICKORY TIGER MOTH.

Regarding the yellow colored caterpillars that are so numerous in this section, a specimen of which was submitted to Mr. Ira Wing, the State entomologist, F. E. Huleh, says:

"It is called the hickory moth caterpillar. It has never been numerous enough to do much damage until this year. The scarcity of the birds this year is responsible."

He advises that special effort be made to destroy them, for fear we may have another season when birds are few. Hardly physics react, weaken the bowels, cause chronic constipation. Dean's Regulate operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation. Ask your druggist for them.

parish and about forty of the ladies gathered together and enjoyed a very social time. The shower of the afternoon coming just at the time it did prevented many from coming but those table across one corner of the parlor.

The parlors and class rooms were very prettily decorated with flowers and autumn leaves, and the tea table with its glasses and silver, made a very pretty appearance. All the ladies voted it the best time of the year and hoped there would be many more of the same kind.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT.

Science Has Now Found the True Way to Cure Indigestion.

A few years ago, when a sufferer from indigestion went to a stomach specialist, the result was a rigid diet list that almost meant starvation.

But the first thing to do in the case of indigestion or stomach weakness is to strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, so that they will care for the food that is eaten. In no other way can this be done as well as by taking a Mi-on-a tablet before each meal. This restores strength to the stomach muscles and stimulates the pouring out of gastric juices, so that the food is digested readily and its nourishment retained in the system to build up energy and vitality.

Do not think the sick headache, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, spots before the eyes, sleeplessness and many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion, will go away of themselves. The stomach must be built up and strengthened by Mi-on-a before you can be well and strong, free from suffering and distress.

The guarantee that the Cote Pharmacy, A. H. Williamson Prop. and Nathan Reynolds of Canton gives with every 50-cent box of Mi-on-a, to refund the money unless the remedy cures, shows their confidence in the treatment.

BEST OF PROOF.
That Hyomel Will Cure All Forms of Catarrhal Diseases.

Testimonials could be printed by the thousands, many of them from Rum-ford and nearby towns, that Hyomel is an absolute cure for all catarrhal troubles, but the best proof of its unusual curative powers is the guarantee that the Cote Pharmacy and Nathan Reynolds of Canton give with every outfit that they sell. "Money back if Hyomel does not do all that is claimed for it."

Hyomel is not a secret remedy. Its formula is given freely to physicians who want to know what they use when they prescribe Hyomel. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Law by serial No. 1418.

By breathing Hyomel, the healing medicine goes directly to every nook and corner of the air passages where the catarrhal germs may lurk, and disinfects and heals. To be convinced of this you have only to give it a trial, remembering that if it does not cure,
the Cote Pharmacy, A. H. Williamson Prop., or Nathan Reynolds of Canton, will refund your money.

The complete Hyomel outfit costs but $1.00, and in most cases is sufficient to cure the disease, making it not only a scientific treatment but one that is highly commercial. Get an outfit today of the Cote Pharmacy or Nathan Reynolds of Canton, if you have catarrh.

Congress St.

they had been so long planning. Judge Sands went on to say that the day he was compelled to sell his Seaboard stock he would have to make public an announcement of his condition, as there could be no sale without the court's consent. His closing was:

My dear daughter, no one knows better than I the almost hopelessness of expecting any relief from your operations. But for hopelessness have I become of late, so much am I reliant upon you, my dear child, and eternal hope so springs in all of us when confronted with great necessities, that I have hoped and still hope that you are to be the savior of your family; that you, only a frail child, are through God's marvelous workings to be the one to save the honor of that name we both love more than life the one to keep the wolf of poverty from that door through which so far has come nothing but the sunshine of prosperity and happiness; the one, my dear Beulah, who is to save your old father from a dishonored grave. Dear child, forgive me for placing upon your weak shoulders the additional burden of knowing I am now helpless and compelled to rely absolutely upon you. After you have read my letter, if there is no hope, I command you to tell me so at once, for although I am now financially and almost mentally helpless, I am still a Sands, and there has never yet been one of the name who shirked his duty, however stern and painful it might be.

When I handed the letter back to Miss Sands, she said:

"Mr. Randolph, let me tell you and Mr. Brownley a little about my father and our home, that you may see our situation as it is. My father is one of the noblest men that ever lived. I am not the only one who says that—if you were to ask the people of our state to name the one man who had done most for the state as a state, most for her progressive betterment, most for her people high and low, white and black, they would answer, 'Judge Lee Sands.' He has been, and is, the idol of our people. After he was graduated from Harvard, he entered the law office of my grandfather, Senator Robert Lee Sands. Before he was 30 he was in congress and was even then reputed the greatest orator of our state, where orators are so plentiful. He married my mother, his second cousin, Julia Lee, of Richmond, at 25, and from then until the attack of that ruthless money shark, led a life such as a true man would map out for himself if his Maker granted him the privilege. You would have to visit at our home to appreciate my father's character and to understand how terrible this sorrow is to him. Every morning of his life he spends an hour after breakfast with my dear mother, who is a cripple from hip disease. He takes her in his arms and brings her down from her room to the library as if she were a child. He then reads to her—and he knows good books as well as he knows his friends. After he takes mother back to her room, he gives an hour to our people, the blacks of the plantation and his white tenants throughout the county. He is a father to them all. He settles all their troubles, big and little. Then for hours he and I go over his business affairs. Every afternoon from four to five he devotes to his estates and the men and women for whom he acts as trustees. He has often said to me: 'We have a clear million of money and property, and that is all any man should have in America. It is all he is entitled to under our form of government. Any more than that an honest man should in one way or another return to the people from whom he has taken it. I never want my family to have more than a million dollars.' When he went into the Seaboard affair, he explained to me that it was to assist the Wilsons—they were old friends, and he acted as their solicitor for years—in building up the south. He discussed with me the right and advisability of putting in the trust funds. He said he considered it his duty to employ them as he did his own in enterprises that would aid the whole people of the south, instead of sending them to the north to be used in Wall street as belting for the 'system' grinder. These fortunes were made in the south by men who loved their section of the country more than they did wealth, and why should they not be employed to benefit that part of the country which their makers and owners loved? I remember vividly how perplexed he was when, at the beginning, the Wilsons would show him that the investments were returning unusually large profits.

"It is not right, Beulah," he said to me one morning after receiving a letter from Baltimore to the effect that Seaboard stock and bonds had advanced until his investment showed over 60 per cent. profit. 'It is not right for us to make this money. No man in America should make over legal rates of interest and a fair profit on an investment, that is, an investment of capital pure and simple, particularly in a transportation company, where every dollar of profit comes from the people who patronize the lines. I have worked it out on every side, and it is not right.' It would not be legal if the people, who make the laws for their own betterment, understood their affairs as they should."

"He was always writing to the Wilsons to conduct the affairs of the Seaboard so that there would be no gain, but each day only profits enough to keep the road open, the wharves in possible. My father abhors a lie. He believes a man or woman who would lie the lowest of the low things on earth. When I go back to my father he will say: 'Tell me what you have done.' I can just see him now, standing between the big white pillars at the end of the driveway. I can hear him saying calmly: 'Beulah, my daughter, welcome. Your mother is waiting for you in her room. Do not lose a moment getting to her.' Afterward he'll take me over the plantation to show me all the familiar things, and not one word will he allow me to say about our affairs until dinner is over, until the neighbors have left, for no Sands returns from long absence without a fitting home welcome. When I have said good night to mother and sister and he has drawn up my rocker in front of his big chair in the library alcove and I've lighted his cigar for him, he will look me in the eye and say: 'Daughter, tell me what you have done.' I would no more think of holding anything back than I would of stabbing him to the heart. No, Mr. Randolph, there is no possibility of relief except in fairly using that $30,000 and fairly winning back what Wall street has stolen from father. Even that will cause both of us many twinges of conscience, and anything more is impossible. If this cannot be done, father must all of us must, pay the penalty of Reinhardt's ruthless act."

Bob had listened, but made no comment until she was through; then he said: "It looks to me as though the market is shaping up so that we may be able to do something soon."

was evident to both of us that he had some plan in mind.

Later we learned that that night

hypocrite, seeking notoriety, and his standing in the financial world was so old and solid that it would have to listen to him. I remember how emphatically father said: 'Tell you, John, even the discussion of such a proposition as that scoundrel Reinhardt makes is degrading to an American's honor.' He said it didn't make the least difference if Reinhardt counted his millions by the score, and was director in 30 or 40 great institutions, and gave a fortune every year for charity to the church—that he was a blackleg just the same. And so is any man, he said, who dares to say he will take the stock of a transportation company, which represents a certain amount of money invested and double or multiply it by five and ten, simply because he can compel people to pay exorbitant fares and freight rates and so get profits on this fraudulently increased capital.

"It was the decision arrived at by father and the Wilsons at this meeting, a decision to refuse in any circumstances to allow our southern people to be led by the Wall street 'system,' that started Reinhardt and his dollar-fleets on the war-path. You can see from what I tell you of my father the terrible condition he is in now. At night, when I get to thinking of him, hoping against hope, with no one to help him, no one with whom he can talk over his affairs, when I think of his nobleness in devoting his time to mother and by sheer will-power concealing from her his awful suffering, it nearly drives me mad."

"Miss Sands, why will you not let me lend you the money necessary to tide your father over for awhile?" I asked.

"You are so good," Mr. Randolph, "but you don't quite understand my father in spite of what I have said. He would not relieve his suffering at the expense of another, not if it were a hundred times more acute. You cannot understand the old-fashioned, deep-rooted pride of the Sands."

"But can you not, at least temporarily disguise from him just how you have arranged the relief?"

Her big blue eyes stared at me in bewilderment.

"Mr. Randolph, I could not deceive him. I could not tell him a lie even to save his life. It would be im-

A Reliable Home Defender.

The truth of the adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," has probably been forced upon more people through the agency of "L. F." Atwood's Bitters than would readily be believed. And what is still more remarkable is the fact that "L. F." Atwood's remedy is equally as efficacious in its curing powers as it is as a preventive against sickness. Thousands of families have depended upon the "L. F." medicine as a household remedy for over half a century; and it is no exaggeration to say that few medicines have averted more sickness or prevented more suffering. Don't wait until sickness comes before getting "L. F." Atwood's Bitters. A bottle in the house affords reliable protection. At the store, 35c.

RUMFORD LOCALS.
Oliver Pattengill has leased his house to Elliott W. Howe and will move to Portland, where he is employed in the office of the M. C. R. R. The house is now undergoing repairs and Mr. Howe will occupy it as soon as work is completed.

We learn from a reliable source that quite a large number of the Lithuanians of the place are anxious for a night school to be opened here. Many have expressed a desire to attend. We think it would be a sensible thing to do. Money so spent would be for the betterment of the community and society in general.

Joseph Yukas who was fined in the municipal court a week ago Monday for assault upon Peter Rindekis, the previous Saturday night, settled a civil suit against him, for damages brought by Rindekis, out of court. The amount of money paid was not made public. John Wikont was interpreter in the business, as well as peace maker.

The foot bridge was closed to travel last week. A big sign was placed on the corner of the fence by White's carpenter shop. The large number of persons that passed by it without seeing it was astonishing. Some even crawled under the rail that barred the way just beyond McKee-man's office. The peculiar part of the thing is that most of those who were guilty of not seeing the sign were of the English education. The manner in which people rush along thinking of nothing about them is becoming more and more marked everywhere, as the cares of life and the effort to get a living increase.

Accidents will happen, but the best-regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

COMMUNICATION.
To the Editor:
Dear Sir:—

I was particularly interested in your article referring to the protection of dumb animals.

I believe the newspapers can be the most powerful agent in enforcing the laws which demand the protection of any dumb creature that is not able to defend itself.

It was with great surprise that I read that any one residing in your community could be guilty of practicing cruelty upon a cow.

The beautiful state of Maine with its wide spreading pastures, and the fine specimens of the animal kingdom which we can see grazing there, ought to incite a love for the defenseless creatures.

We can understand somewhat the abuse, which is given to horses and dogs, in our larger cities, where there is so much foreign element and which sometimes lacks much of the "Milk of human kindness," but we look for higher instincts in those who live so close to the grandeur and beauty of nature, as your citizens do.—Shame to the man or woman who is willingly cruel to an animal, be it a dog, a horse, a cow or any other dumb creature.

The New York papers are taking a strong stand in the defense of the animals and the victory will surely be won, for the best in manhood and womanhood will fight and stand for the rights of the animal kingdom.

Let us hope that the Rumford CITIZEN in the accomplishment of this noble ZEN will hold one of the highest places work—in defense of all helpless creatures.

Yours,—M. E. R.

A FAMOUS RACE 60 ODD YEARS OLD.

In a spirit of fun, that may be taken in earnest by the challenged party. Mr. John H. Martin, 82 years old, told Mr. Otis Wymann of Peru Annex, 76 years old, that he would run him a race on Congress street for the old man's championship.

This incident recalls the time more than 60 years ago that a great race was pulled off on the road from the Falls to the Center in which Mr. Martin made a record that but few of the modern pedestrians have beaten.

The contest was to see if mail could be delivered by relays of men as quickly as by a man on horse back. The starting point was at the upper falls and the terminal at Rumford Center. Mr. Martin does not recall how many men were stationed along the way. They were not placed at equal distances, but the condition of the road and whether level or hilly governed the distance each man covered. Mr. Martin ran 80 rods. The time was 60 seconds. The horse and rider were beaten in the race by a few rods. Charles Kimball from the Point was the horseman.

"THE HONEYMOONERS."
The "Honeymooners" is a new Geo. M. Cohan song show which comes to the Cheney Opera House, Rumford Falls, next Friday Evening, Oct. 4. It comes with the prestige of the greatest success of the past summer in New York where at the New Amsterdam Theatre it played to capacity right through the heated season at $2.00 per seat. The popularity of Geo. M. Cohan grows with every new production and "The Honeymooners" has done much to strengthen his reputation as the favorite composer of America. In "The Honeymooners" which comes direct from the New Amsterdam Theatre with the gorgeous Parisian costumes and luxurious production Cohan locates his action in the small town of Tigerville, Vermont, whose peculiarities he has hit off with a kindly satire and quaint humor. Love, politics and mistaken identities play the leading role in the plot which is throughout coherent, logical and exciting. From the first to the last the story keeps one excited and interested. No other writer for the stage has ever succeeded as has Cohan in combining music and plot. In "The Honeymooners" there are no less than twenty stirring musical numbers including such pronounced hits as "Let's Take an Old Fashioned Walk," "I'm a Popular Man," "Kid Days," "In a One Night Stand," "I'll be There in the Public Square," and "If I'm Goin' to Die I'm Goin' to Have Some Fun." Two score pretty girls personally selected by Mr. Cohan assist in the musical numbers and give an air of gay summer festivity to the scenes of the comedy. The cast is a very strong one including such well known names as Lola Merrill, Emma Campbell, Maud Morris, May Williams, Willie Donnelly, Andrew O'Neil, George Mayo, Albert Stewart, Dan Sullivan, Joe Kearney, and "Taylor Williams." "The Honeymooners" is a typical Cohan production full of ginger, melody and action. There are no dead moments. Speed is the motto of Cohan shows and this is the speediest of the lot. The fact that "The Honeymooners" played to record business all last summer in the New Amsterdam Theatre proves its worth and vitality.

Crawford
Cooking Ranges
What Our NEW TYPE of Range Means
Maintaining the Crawford reputation for progress, we have constructed a new type of range which is better than even our heretofore best. In this new design the useless and awkward End Hearth is omitted. The ashes are disposed of by falling into a HOD far below the fire, which makes their removal easier and the grates to last longer. The Coal and Ash Hods are side by side, of the same size, and the Ash Hod being emptied can be returned full of coal. There is also more room on top of these ranges. The "Palace" is extra large size and the "Castle" smaller.
All the famous Crawford features are present: Single Damper, Patented Grate, Cup-Joint Oven Flues, Asbestos-Backed Oven, Improved Oven Indicator. Send for our booklet.
Made by Walker & Pratt Mfg. Co., 31-35 Union St., Boston.
For sale by all leading dealers.
